Baltimere, Sept. 17 .- During a terrific thunderstorm at 6 p. m. to-day a New York and Washington train, speeding toward the Capital, and a Baltimore and Philadelphia accommodation train, on which were a number of Washingtonians, were in collision at Bay View junc tion, on the Baltimere and Ohio Railroad, just outside of Baltimore.

The accommodation train was backing into a siding to give the express the right of way. The coaches had reached the siding, but the locomotive was still on lican county committee and the candidates the main track when the express came of the party for the county offices met thundering along.
